Urges GOPs to Cut Down on Spending

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Assn. of Manufacturers today urged the Republican National Convention to reject proposals for new government spending programs when the services involved can be provided by local governments or by private initiative.

Rudolph F. Bannow, president of the NAM, said unnecessary federal spending adds to the tax burden and siphons off money needed for capital investment to speed the nation's economic growth.

"We have not given attention to the need for new capital at home," he said in a statement before a platform subcommittee. The rate of economic growth has become a major issue this election year. The Soviet Union's effort to try to overtake the United States in this field has helped make it so.

Democrats promised at their Los Angeles convention to initiate new federal spending programs as a way of encouraging new industrial growth.

"Large-scale federal intervention in the field of human affairs seems to be based in many instances on the assumption that it is the duty of the national government to bail out any and all segments of the population from the consequences of their own errors, negligence, apathy and irresponsibility," Bannow said.

"The Chamber of Commerce of the United States expressed a similar view. Its president Arthur J. Mottley told platform writers that U. S. tax rates are too high and tax laws too complex. He said tax reform is needed to stimulate job-creating investment.

In another platform hearing, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York challenged Democrats to "put out their bold civil rights plank and try to get it enacted when the Democratic-controlled Congress meets again next month.

Keating contended that only the Republicans can bring an end to racial discrimination.

State Police Sgt. Jack Seroggin said Haygood started to overtake another automobile and drove into the path of the truck, driven by John Franklin Love, 33, of Memphis.

Haygood was traveling south; Love, north.

Underwater Missiles Hit Their Mark

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Two Polaris missiles fired from a submerged nuclear-powered submarine streaked down the Atlantic firing range Wednesday for 1,100 miles to hit squarely in the planned target area.

The firings from the submarine George Washington were hailed as a big step toward operational use of a weapon that could be a giant deterrent to any enemy action.

Gliding silently beneath the waves about 20 miles off Cape Canaveral, the George Washington made the historic first launchings from a submerged submarine while 50 feet below the surface.

The stubby 14-ton missiles were popped to the surface with compressed air. Then their engines ignited and they streaked high into the air toward their preselected targets.

"There was a hell of a lot of tension. A lot of hopes, ambitions and prayers rode with those missiles."

Opponents Fire at 'Regime' of Governor

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett has charged that Gov. Orval E. Faubus has betrayed the people of Arkansas by not keeping campaign promises.

And H. E. Williams, another of the five candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, said under the Faubus regime Arkansas has "climbed" last place among the 15 Southern states in industrial development.

These were two of the salvoes fired yesterday as the five hopefuls slugged in the state. Faubus charged at Rondo, near Texarkana, that his opponents weren't being specific in their charges against him.

Tim Millsap Jr. said at Fort Smith Faubus has put the state under the control of big utilities at great cost to the small businessman and homeowner.

Joe C. Hardin said in Clarksville, Russellville and Ozark that Faubus has used the state's industrial picture as a campaign tool. Hardin promised that if he is elected he will not play politics with the industrial growth of the state.

Bennett, who wound up an active day with a speech at Calico Rock, called the need for a bridge across the White River there and promised, if he is elected, "to do something positive toward getting one."

He charged that Faubus has betrayed the state's teachers by seeking their vote, then purging them. Faubus spoke on television in defense of three segregationist members of the Little Rock school board who tried to purge a group of teachers.

Bennett added that Faubus betrayed the people by promising he would not raise taxes, then raising the sales tax, income tax, and hunting, fishing and driver's license fees.

Faubus makes his way up the state's western edge today, speaking in Mt. Ida, Mena and Paris. Bennett will visit North Little Rock's railroad yards put in an appearance in Pine Bluff, and spend some time in his Little Rock campaign headquarters.

Hardin and Williams are to spend the day in Little Rock. Millsap has a television speech scheduled in the capital city tonight.

All but Bennett are scheduled to speak in Little Rock television stations tomorrow night as campaigning for next Tuesday's Democratic primary nears its end.

In a television speech in Fort Smith last night, Williams said that city's new 10 million dollar Borg-Warner plant already had been settled when Faubus was called into negotiations and that Faubus took credit for the plant through a "political sleight of hand."

Williams said that although Faubus has taken credit for most of the industry that has moved to Arkansas during his administration, "Neither Faubus nor any other governor is the real cause of industry moving south and west, but the management of industry makes the decision."

Faubus spoke in a Do Queen, Ashdown, Rondo and Hope, blasting the Arkansas Gazette and his four opponents. He called Millsap "Winecup" and Williams "preacher Williams." Williams is a Baptist minister.

Faubus said his opponents were blaming him for everything. "Next thing you know," he said, "I'll Florida . . . Cadet Baber is a student at the University of Arkansas and is majoring in psychology."

Kelson Foster, salesman at Auto Co., is attending a five-day Ford Division truck sales workshop in Memphis this week.

Roy Taylor, member of the Hope Fire Department, has returned from a three-day Firemen's School at Little Rock.

Arkadelphia takes on Garden to night in the district Junior American Legion playoff and the winner will take on undefeated Hope in the finals.

Says Welfare Board Meets Far Apart

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—H. E. Williams charged today that the state Board of Public Welfare has met only once since 1955.

This was denied by Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams, who said the board had met at least four times since that year.

Williams, whose platform as a candidate for governor includes a proposal to take the Welfare Department out of politics, said the security of Welfare Board meetings constituted "vast pocket" administration by Gov. Orval E. Faubus and his salaried Welfare Department officials.

Adams said the most recent meeting of the board was held last December during a conference of welfare workers at Little Rock. He said not all members attended but that it was an official meeting.

He said it was the board's wish that meetings be held only when necessary and added that the board could call a meeting any time it wanted to.

Engle Street, of Cave City, is board chairman.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—H. E. Williams said today he had learned the state Board of Public Welfare has had only one meeting since 1955.

Williams, whose gubernatorial platform includes a proposal to take the Welfare Department out of the people and the demands of "vast-pocket administration" by Gov. Orval E. Faubus and his salaried Welfare Department officials.

"Evidently Gov. Faubus, Carl Adams and (Ted Moss) as the Board of Public Welfare," Williams said in a prepared statement. "This follows the old party line of Faubusism—where the will of the people and the demands of the law are ignored for the selfish political ambitions of the governor."

Adams is state welfare commissioner. A. J. (Red) Moss is his chief assistant.

Williams said he was told by a member of the welfare board that only one meeting has been held in five years. He did not identify the man.

"This is evidence that Faubus is better at riots and confusion than he is at administration and progress," Williams said. "I believe it is administratively unsound for a governor to operate any department out of his vest pocket."

Warning Comes From Lodge Before UN

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States said today it will do whatever it must to keep Soviet troops out of the Congo.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge gave the pledge to the U.N. Security Council after Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov had said "peace-loving states" would have to let if Belgian troops do not leave the chaotic new African republic immediately.

At a council meeting lasting until 11 a. m. Kuznetsov introduced a resolution demanding "the withdrawal of Belgian forces within three days."

The Soviet resolution was not expected to win Council approval. Instead the 11-nation group probably will approve a milder resolution being drafted by Ceylon and Tunisia that will call on Belgium to "proceed as speedily as possible" with the withdrawal.

Lodge welcomed a report from Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld that the new U.N. military force is moving into the Congo fast to restore order and protect the population. He expressed the hope that in a few days it will be close to 10,000 strong.

The U.S. delegate noted "reports that the Soviet Union might intervene in the Congo directly with troops."

"With or without United Nations members, we will do whatever may be necessary to prevent the intrusion of any military forces not requested by the United Nations," Lodge declared.

Premier Patrice Lumumba of the Congo has been saying he will ask for Soviet soldiers if the Belgian troops do not withdraw quickly. In a message to him Friday, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev promised "the necessary help which may be required" to end what the Russians and Lumumba call Belgian aggression.

Kuznetsov was not so plain-spoken when told the council: "The aggression continues, the necessity will naturally appear to take more effective measures both along United Nations lines and the lines of the peace-loving states that sympathize with the Congo."

Kuznetsov recalled that a week ago the Council had called for the withdrawal of Belgian troops from the Congo when it authorized Hammarskjöld to send in U.N. force. But "Belgian troops are still arriving simultaneously" with U.N. troops, he said, and "Belgian planes with rocket weapons" are being sent.

Kuznetsov also charged that the Western powers are behind the declared secession of wealthy Katanga Province from the Congo because they want to hold "economically rich areas of the former Belgian colonies."

Premier of Congo to Address UN

By LYNN HEINZELING

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A United Nations spokesman said today Premier Patrice Lumumba has informed the U. N. mission he will fly to New York Saturday to address the Security Council on the Congo crisis.

A meeting of the Council may be postponed to await Lumumba's arrival, the spokesman said.

The tall, dark-skinned government chief has threatened to call in Soviet soldiers if Belgian soldiers do not leave Congolese territory immediately.

Belgian planes began airlifting Belgian paratroopers out of Leopoldville today in fulfillment of the United Nations plan to make this a U. N.-controlled city by Saturday. The soldiers are returning to Belgian treaty bases within the Congo.

A contingent of Swedish soldiers for the U. N. Congo force arrived from the Middle East and began taking over guard duty from the Belgians at the airport, 15 miles out of town.

The headquarters staff of the Belgian air force here also was packing up. Files, cabinets and even refrigerators and washing machines were crated for shipment to the Belgian bases at Kinshasa and Karima.

AMC Responsible for Missile Base

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The Air Materiel Command has received responsibility for missile base construction, including the proposed Titan II Intercontinental Ballistic Missile base near Little Rock.

Secretary of the Air Force Dudley C. Sharp said yesterday the Air Force was giving AMC the missile job and naming Maj. Gen. Thomas P. Gerry as chief of the AMC Ballistic Missile Center at Inglewood, Calif.

This signals the shift from the so-called learning phase, when the missile development and site construction both were the responsibility of the Air Research and Development Command with participation by the AMC Ballistic Missile Center and the Strategic Air Command.

southern states in industrialization.

"During Paulus' administration," he said, "we have clinched our place as last among 15 states rather than increasing our industrial development as Paulus has alleged."

Hardin charged that Paulus has failed to provide leadership in a trying and painful time. "He has been inconsistent and ineffective on the real issues, but dominating and opportunistic on those issues more likely to generate heat and light."

Hardin said he would be "more interested in securing industry than in obtaining credit for (seething) it."

Bennett lashed at Paulus for what he called "adding the scalp of Claude Carpenter Jr. to those of hundreds of other people by turning on him."

James McDaniel, a Jonesboro attorney who spoke for Paulus in a Pine Bluff rally Monday night, denounced Carpenter, once a Paulus aide. Carpenter now is field representative for Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark).

Powers' Wife May Attend His Trial

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—The wife of an American U2 plane pilot has asked Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for permission to attend the trial of her husband next month.

Barbara Gay Powers, after being ignored by the Soviet Embassy, has appealed directly to the Soviet chief to attend the trial of her husband, Francis Gary Powers, charged by the Soviet Union with committing acts of espionage.

Mrs. Powers said she had applied for a visa more than two weeks ago but had not received a reply from the Soviet Embassy.

Bill Smith Heads the Beat Party

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1960 anti-establishment candidate of the Beat Party is Bill Smith of Chicago. He is thoroughly bearded, truly beat, and the victor over such formidable opposition as "Big Brown" of Detroit and Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Smith won the nomination on the fifth ballot Wednesday night in a hotly-contested election that closed the first great international assemblage of beats. They met in a smoke-filled second-story room in the College of Complexes, a coffee house.

Until his hand was put on the lever, there was some doubt that Smith, the favorite son of three different states and a power in the cool world, could make it man.

Although Kennedy gave no sign that he ever knew about the convention, he polled three votes on the first ballot, matching another candidate called Jim the Greek of Greenwich village.

Other officers elected at the group's biennial convention included:

First vice-president, Miss Katherine Peden, Hopkinsville, Ky.; second vice-president, Dr. Minnie C. Miles, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; treasurer, Miss Helen Krauss, St. Petersburg, Fla.

TELEPHONE TALK

Fred D. Gray, Wire Chief, Hope, Arkansas

This month this article is being written by Mrs. Lena Maryman, Chief Operator, about our Traffic Department.

SERVICE

Now as in the past our main objective in the Traffic Department is to give our customers good telephone service. In looking over our past records it was surprising to note that in the past three years our force has increased from 22 operators in June of 1957 to 38 operators in June of 1960, also our long distance calls have increased from an average week day of 777 calls in June 1957 to 2197 calls per average week day of June 1960.

With each increase in business we strive to keep our service to you the best.

Just as a reminder, if you will give the operator your complete number when placing long distance calls it would help to insure correct number, also, if you require charges on your call after completion ask the operator when placing your call to give you charges after you've finished talking and she will be glad to do so.

We appreciate being able to serve you and to help you help us give you better service.

MISSING PERSONS

The other day, a woman who is active in many organizations told me how she has trouble trying to telephone some of her fellow club members.

"I know these women by their own names," she said. "You know, like Mary Smith or Helen Jones, but I don't know their husband's first name or initials. Naturally, the phone is listed in the husband's name in most cases. So it makes it hard to find the right number sometimes."

I had the answer for her, fortunately. I told her how she and her friends could have their own names listed with the information operator for only 30¢ a month. Then when the new directory comes out, the listing will be printed right in the phone book.

It's a good idea for lots of people, including teen-agers.

NOTICE A DIFFERENCE

Remember the old-time wall telephones with a crank on the side to ring the bell? Quite a difference from the latest model color sets nowadays.

Besides being more attractive and dependable, today's telephones offer some other features that are pretty convenient. For instance, they have adjustable volume bells, and you can get them equipped with night lights, too.

Another popular feature is the spring cord. Looks neat, doesn't tangle, and it stretches so you can move around while talking. Many women find this especially handy in the kitchen.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

UN to Debate Plane Incident

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. announced today the Security Council will begin debate Friday on the U.S.-Soviet controversy over an American RB47 reconnaissance plane shot down by the Russians July 1.

The Council president, Ambassador Jose Correa of Ecuador, called the Friday meeting of the 11-nation Council for 3 p.m. EDT. The Soviet Union has charged that the plane was armed and on an espionage mission and said it was downed over Soviet territorial waters.

The United States says the plane was on a mapping operation over international waters. Discharges at the Arkansas State Hospital during 1959 were 45 per cent greater than in 1956, because of improvements in the care and treatment programs at the hospital.

Installation of Turbine Is Started

HELENA, Ark. (AP) — Men and machines today began installing the 257-ton inner core of the world's largest turbine-generator at the Arkansas Power & Light Co.'s new 43 million dollar steam electric station on the Mississippi River near here.

Project Manager W. M. Wolford said that the inner core, or armature, of most generators is installed at the factory but that because of the tremendous size of the AP&L generator it was necessary for the armature to be installed at the plant site.

Nine railroad cars were used to ship the generator here last month from East Pittsburg, Pa., where it was built.

Beginning in mid-June, three of the four sections of the unit's old frame — the heaviest weighing 45 tons — were removed from their railroad cars and hoisted to the generator pedestal 35 feet above ground, where they were aligned, bolted together and welded.

The fourth section will be swung into place and welded to the other three after the armature is installed.

Eight air-driven jacks of 100-ton capacity elevated 12 inches at a time the armature into place for today's operation.

Workers used a gantry crane which lifts 70 tons at five feet a minute to slide the armature into position inside the inner frame. Then they began installing eight 50-ton jacks to lift the armature to provide specified clearance.

34 Belgian Soldiers Die in Crash

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A plane crash in the Congo killed 34 Belgian soldiers today and disclosed that the Belgians still are sending troops to that country. The government said a C-119 Flying Boxcar hit a volcanic peak near Goma in the Congo. Seven soldiers were injured.

The United Nations Security Council has called for withdrawal of Belgian soldiers, but a spokesman for the Belgian government said men still are being sent in, either as replacements or to reinforce the Belgian forces there.

The spokesman said the government will continue doing this as long as Belgian soldiers are needed to restore order and to protect lives of Belgians. He asserted all soldiers will be withdrawn as soon as U.N. forces are available to handle the tasks now performed by Belgians.

Many Fires Blazing on West Coast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The West was aflame in many places today. In eastern Oregon, more than 250 fires burned range and timber land. Some threatened to merge into huge conflagrations. Scores of other blazes raged in Idaho and Washington, whose governors have declared states of emergency.

Flames spreading across a prairie threatened to engulf the northern Idaho town of Woodland. In California, a 26,000-acre brush fire burned to within two miles of the north end of the famed estate containing the late William Randolph Hearst's castle at San Simeon, a multimillion-dollar edifice, now the center of a 143-acre state park.

In Southern California, six major brush and timber fires flared on after lightning set 65 blazes in three counties.

More than 34,000 acres north of Los Angeles have been blackened. Nineteen homes have been burned and 14 firemen injured among 2,500 battling flames in 105- to 112-degree temperatures. Nearly 2,000 campers and home owners fled mountain areas.

Five big fires turned mile-high pine forests into a frontier of flames 15 to 35 miles north of downtown Los Angeles.

In the Northwest, the biggest fire covered 30,000 acres along the Oregon-Idaho border near Marsing, Idaho. Feeding in knee-high grass, it jumped 30-foot fire lines.

Temperatures exceeded 100 in many of the fire areas. Gusts and whirlwinds hampered fire fighters.

Washington National Guard units were called out. Near Lewiston, Idaho, fire burned 1,000 acres of wheat.

In the Wallowa-Whitman National Forest of Oregon more than 100 fires blazed, all less than 150 acres.

The average annual runoff of the Arkansas streams as they leave the state is approximately 1.84 million acre-feet, an amount sufficient to cover the entire state to a depth of two and one-half feet.

DOROTHY DIX

Daughter Strives to Adjust to Mother's Second Marriage

Dear Helen Worden Briskine: I would appreciate your advice on a situation that could be very happy — if I weren't such a self-centered, selfish little brat.

I am not what you would call a normal, teen-ager, being exceedingly fat and due to a nervous condition, partially blind. These things hinder me in making friends, therefore I turn to my mother. We were very close and, until now, were happy. My father, sick and elderly, has been in a hospital for some time. I love him.

Mother has fallen in love with another man and plans to marry this summer. Yesterday she told me that she and Daddy had been divorced three years. My whole world is crumbling. My father is 70 and sick. Mother is 42, attractive and craves love. But she is used to having things her own way. The man she plans to marry has also been alone some time. He too is used to running things. Will it work?

They plan to take me on their honeymoon. This would humiliate me. If I refuse, the only way I can date, is to go on Mother's dates, then I don't want any part of it. Mother is the only real friend I have. I want her to be happy. She can be if I accept my step-father with love. He really is nice. He is a very lonely person. I used to be able to call a friend on the phone and chat for a few minutes. Now I get the brush-off and they think no words telling me they are watching my watch two or three programs myself and I don't let it occupy my entire day. When the phone rings and a friend is on the other end, I'm lucky to talk someone through enough of the line to tell what the things are coming to any way. This is completely taken over by Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S. — If it wasn't my mother, I would be something else. I remember the day, not so far distant, when some opera had house lights glowed to the radio, flooding between the lines of your letter. I gather that the cause of your loneliness goes far deeper than my. At the risk of repeating myself, I again state that old proverb: Life is like a Spanish Inquisition. Find it in what you take to it.

Dear Helen Worden Briskine: Can you help me make a decision? I left my husband eight months ago. Two weeks later he joined me here. We've been living together and happy since that time. We have four children. In the past he has continually gotten drunk and beat me. The children were afraid of him. Now he says it's hard to get a job here and wants to go back to that place where they drink dry in and day out. Should I take the children and go back with him? Desperate. Dear Desperate: No. And if you can help it, don't let him go back to the Alcoholics Anonymous group in your town. They is around. Help me to accept the situation with grace. — S.S.

Dear S.S.: We are all separate entities, each with the obligation to lead its own life. Part of the process of growing up is learning to be self-sufficient. One of the things we must learn, if we are ever to be mature, is to let go of those we love. I don't mean stop loving them — I mean release them to the point of putting their loneliness above our own. And so if you want to be mature — and as you should be — you must free your mother. Send her on her honeymoon without you. Be strong. Stand on your own two feet. The more you try, the easier you'll find it to take life in your stride. Once you succeed, everything will take its normal place, even your relationship with your stepfather.

Your letter is above the average in its inherent intelligent presentation of a heart-breaking situation. Have you ever thought of becoming a writer? On the chance that you might find it a career, I'm sending you my letter. And so you want to write.

Dear Helen Worden Briskine: Television has robbed me of my neighbors and friends and made me a very lonely person. I used to be able to call a friend on the phone and chat for a few minutes. Now I get the brush-off and they think no words telling me they are watching my watch two or three programs myself and I don't let it occupy my entire day. Miss Tregoff Loses Bid to Make Bail

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Carol Tregoff buried her face in her hands at the counsel table as a judge curtly refused to hear a motion to readmit her to bail.

She was sent back to jail Wednesday night after a legal dispute in the court where she and Dr. R. Bernard Pinch, 43, are on trial on murder charges in the death of Dr. Pinch's wife, Barbara Jean, 32.

Carol, 23, was released on $25,000 bail after a jury at the first Pinch-Tregoff trial deadlocked. The bail was revoked Tuesday when she failed to show up in court, claiming she was ill. She was forcibly brought to court after the county jail physician said she was healthy enough to stand trial.

Her attorney, Don Bringgold, sought to introduce a motion to reinstate her bail. Judge Leroy Dawson refused to hear the motion and, when Bringgold persisted, ordered him to sit down.

Dr. Pinch's attorney, Grant B. Coper, accused the judge of misconduct in refusing to hear the motion. But Judge Dawson ordered that selection of four alternates to the 12 jurors already chosen continue.

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev has formally assured Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government that the Communist bloc can supply all the necessary goods that "the United States and certain other countries now refuse to sell Cuba."

A communique on talks the Soviet Premier had with Raul Castro, brother of the Prime Minister, said the trade would be on a barter basis, Soviet oil and other products in exchange for Cuban commodities.

Court Turns Down Appeal by Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals turned down today a move by James R. Hoffa to block a hearing on efforts to oust him from the presidency of the Teamsters Union.

The action opens the way for a hearing on charges that Hoffa mishandled union funds in a Florida and an election supervised by Ida real estate promotion.

The alleged misuse of funds was in connection with the sale of lots at Sun Valley, Fla., to members of the union.

A court-appointed board of monitors named to supervise activities of the union in a cleanup campaign made the charge of mishandling of the money in connection with efforts to remove Hoffa.

In refusing to bar the hearing, the court said that, nevertheless, the time has come to prepare the way for a new Teamsters convention and an election supervised by

Note Accuses Russia of Aggression

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States accused the U.S.S.R. today of making "a reckless threat of aggressive action" in its protest against the alleged blizzards in Soviet ships by American planes.

In a formal note delivered to Moscow today, the State Department vigorously rejected the complaint that aerial inspection of Soviet ships violates the international law and freedom of the seas.

The Soviet Union claimed in a note sent eight days ago that U.S. planes on 250 instances have made low-level dangerous passes over Soviet ships.

The State Department noted that in its complaint the Soviet government said it would be obliged "to take other measures which will be necessary to ensure the safety of navigation of Soviet vessels in open seas."

In its reply, the State Department fired a blast against the U.S.S.R. for using such language.

"This can not be interpreted other than as a reckless threat of aggressive action against the United States aircraft proceeding on legitimate flights over international waters," it said.

American Refugees Back Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—The vanguard of more than a hundred American refugees from the Congo returned to safety in their native United States today.

The Air Force Globemaster transports carrying the men, women and children, landed at Andrews Air Force Base at noon.

When the first plane landed, 62 passengers trooped down the gangplank, carrying the new belongings they had been able to carry.

Some of the elderly were helped down the steeply sloping gangplank.

About 90 of the first refugees are Baptist missionaries and their families.

A tent canteen was pitched at the ramp to provide a snack for the arriving refugees before they were taken in buses to a hotel.

At the hotel, the Red Cross had workers prepared to provide financial and travel assistance.

The two big transports flew from Brazzaville to Morocco, the Azores and to Andrews Air Force Base here.

Work Begins on Fish Station

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—Construction began this week on the $350,000 fish research station of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

In co-operation with the Rice Branch Experiment Station of the University of Arkansas, which is nearby, the new station will make studies of fish and rice rotation practices in connection with fish farming.

The first unit is being built by H-C Enterprises, Inc., of Little Rock, at a cost of approximately $102,000.

U. S. Told Congo Is Undecided

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department reported today it has been advised that the Congo Cabinet has made no decision on whether to appeal for Soviet soldiers.

A department spokesman said information came from U. S. Ambassador "Clare Timberlake" in Leopoldville. Department officials talked with "Timberlake" by telephone after news dispatches from Leopoldville quoted Prime Minister Patrice Lumumba as announcing a Cabinet decision to request Soviet troops, but that delivery of the request had been held up pending further discussions.

Ike Gets a Fresh Report on Congo

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower got a fresh report on the Congo crisis today.

The report on developments in the United Nations Security Council was relayed to him at the summer White House by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter who telephoned from Washington.

Herter talked with James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, who in turn reported to Eisenhower.

At his Ft. Adams headquarters this morning the President also J. Pickens Christian M. Raynal to be ambassador to Czechoslovakia. Raynal replaces John M. Allison who will get a new assignment.

3. Also accepted the resignation of Mason Sears as U. S. representative on the Trusteeship Council of the United Nations, effective July 31. Mason told the President the group has finished its work for the time being.

Says Weather to Be More Accurate

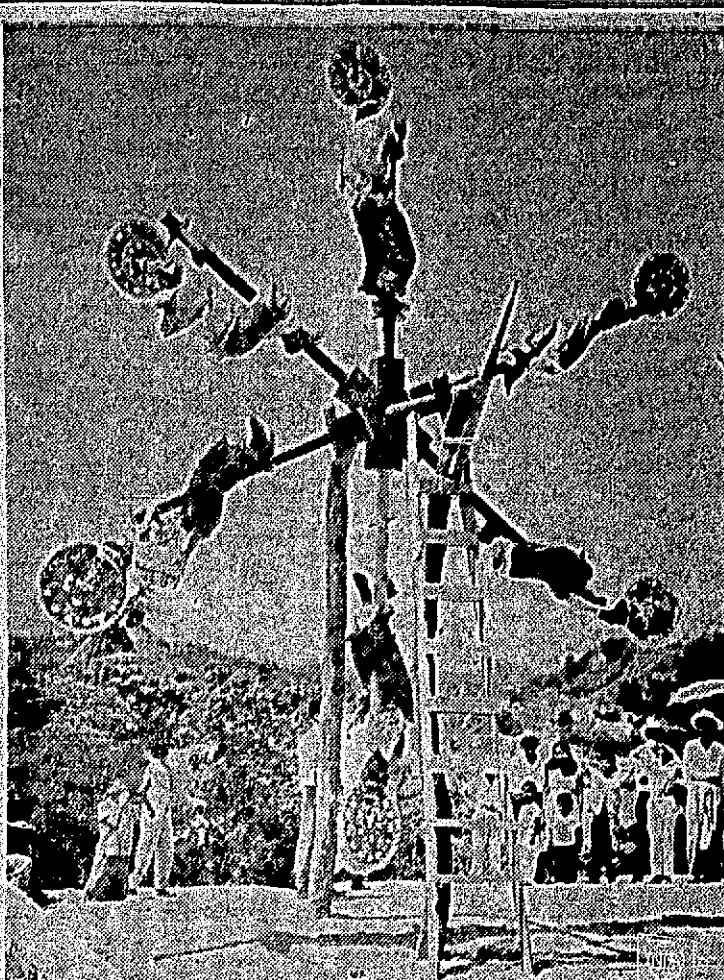

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An official of the U. S. Weather Bureau says Arkansas forecasts are going to be more accurate.

Walter Hickman, chief meteorologist, made this promise in announcing that a new service will be added to the Weather Bureau. He said forecasts for Arkansas now come from New Orleans. Starting Sept. 1, they will be issued from a Memphis forecast center.

Hickman explained that the Little Rock bureau is set up to provide only a forecast from conditions measured during the day. At night, a forecast from New Orleans is adapted to Arkansas conditions.

"The trouble is that the New Orleans center sometimes forgets about the Ouachita and Ozark Mountains when making its forecasts," Hickman said. "This reduces accuracy."

Forecasts for Tennessee and northwest Mississippi also will be issued by the new Memphis center.

To Return Body

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government is expected to hand over to the U. S. Embassy Friday the body of Capt. Willard G. Palm, 38, of Oak Ridge, Tenn., pilot of the RB47 reconnaissance plane shot down by the Russians July 1.

The embassy said the body will be flown out of Moscow immediately, probably to Wiesbaden, Germany, where American military authorities will take charge of it.

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—Three well-known American mountain climbers have conquered 23,660-foot Masherbrum Peak in the Karakoram range of the Himalayas as members of a joint U. S.-Pakistan expedition.

Fall From Truck Fatal to Man

WARREN, Ark. (AP)—Timber worker John B. Barnett, 53, of Monticello, was killed today in a fall from a truck carrying a crew to work in woods near here.

Jasper B. Sanders of Monticello, driver of the truck, said it went out of control on a road just outside the Warren city limits. The truck rolled into a ditch and traveled about 300 feet before stopping.

Barnett fell from the truck bed but four other workers held on. No one else was injured.

State Trooper Bill Watson said Barnett was dead when an ambulance arrived.

40 and 8 Holds Convention

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The 40 and 8 Society's national convention directors will meet tonight to iron out details of the 1960 convocation shift from Miami Beach to Miami.

The society, a fun-making civic and social organization of American Legionnaires, announced the transfer after a Legion request prompted Miami Beach to refuse the 40 and 8 a parade permit.

The Legion objects to the 40 and 8's restriction of membership to white male legionnaires.

The Legion's national convention is set for Miami Beach Oct. 16-20. The 40 and 8 plans to meet Oct. 21-22, but its convention was moved to Miami in consequence of the parade permit refusal.

WHO Is My Real Opposition?

HERE IS THE ANSWER:

A few days ago an ad was placed in the Hope Star in behalf of my opponent. It was very skillfully drawn. It was obvious that the ad was not written by my opponent although it was signed by him. That ad was written by a politician-lawyer upstairs at Second & Main. That lawyer, one W. S. Atkins, seeks to control Hempstead County by the election of my opponent. He cannot control me, and therefore he is strong against me, and I think the good people of Hempstead County are entitled to know that my real opposition is not Mr. Byers, but rather Mr. Atkins, who if he could, would control every office-holder from Justice of Peace to Governor.

The Choice Is Clear — Either

MY OPPONENT and a politically motivated administration with all its attendant evils

OR

U. G. GARRETT and a continuation of an administration, that, among other things, has:

1. Brought Hempstead County out of the dust (practically all State Highways in County now paved),
2. Brought about construction of the most modern Hospital in the State, and over terrific obstacles,
3. Through full cooperation with State and Federal Agencies secured our full share of aid for roads, benefits and commodities for the needy,
4. Brought about the construction of a Public Health Center to better protect the health of all our citizens,
5. Programmed a $180,000.00 additional wing to Hempstead County Memorial Hospital,
6. I have always helped develop hunting and fishing areas in the county and spent much time in helping on the Bois d' Arc project.

"LET'S KEEP PROGRESS IN OUR COUNTY"

U. G. GARRETT

HEMPSTEAD COUNTY JUDGE

— Pol. Adv. Paid for by U. G. Garrett

To the Voters of Hempstead County

Norman Jones

I am a candidate for Hempstead County Representative and offer the following platform for your consideration:

- (1) I will always continue to be for better schools.
- (2) I shall work toward increased benefits for our elderly citizens.
- (3) I will see that more revenue is earmarked for more paved farm-to-market roads.
- (4) I will see that our county has its fair share of industry which you know it has never had before. By so doing, we can provide wholesome jobs for our youth as they finish high school and college and seek employment.
- (5) By putting some economy in our government, we can have those increased services without any increased taxation. I will positively be against any increased tax burden being placed on our people.
- (6) I will stand for everything that is good for the benefit of all our county and be against that which would not benefit our people.

Having served as a school superintendent in our county for the past eighteen years, I invite you to check my business record with the Hempstead County Treasurer in the court house.

Each citizen's vote is important, and I would certainly appreciate yours on July 26.

Sincerely,

NORMAN JONES

Pol. Adv. Paid for by Norman Jones

To The Citizens Of Hempstead County:

I mentioned in an earlier ad that I would give details later concerning the results of my investigation into the law enforcement efforts of my opponent. I now give you these facts, as I believe you are entitled to know them.

A careful check of the records discloses that my opponent has made less arrests for liquor violations (bootlegging and illegal possession) than any Hempstead County Sheriff in many years. In fact, he made only nine liquor arrests in all of 1959; — that is, less than one per month. I ask you, the voters, is that the type of law enforcement you want?

On the other hand, during this same year he arrested 66 persons for drunkenness, as against only 35 arrested for drunkenness during the preceding year by his predecessor.

It would seem that these two offenses are tied together — as the number of liquor violations (bootlegging and illegal possession) goes down, the number of drunks goes up, and also, the other way around.

I submit that my opponent, for some reason, has wholly failed to get at the source of the liquor problem, that is, the person who is making and selling whiskey and beer illegally in Hempstead County and thereby making it easier for many of our citizens, some teen-agers, to wind up on the court docket as a drunk, as did 66 persons in 1959.

The liquor traffic is our most pressing law enforcement problem, for it strikes at the very heart of our community, in that it can and many times does bring about the ruin of our most cherished possession, the young people of our county.

With reference to this problem, I pledge to each of you, that if I am elected your Sheriff and Collector, I will utilize every method known and with the full facilities at my command to reduce the liquor traffic in Hempstead County to its lowest possible flow.

Again, let me say that it is on the basis of my opponent's record and the above solemn pledge with other pledges I have made to you, that I submit myself for your consideration as your next Sheriff and Collector.

Your Vote and Support will be Genuinely Appreciated.

— Vote On July 26 and Elect —

Democratic Primary Tuesday Finds Governor Faubus With His Sternest Political Test

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Staff Writer

Arkansas' Democratic primary Tuesday will present Gov. Orval Faubus with his sternest political test since he rode an upset over into the governor's chair in 1954.

Faubus is bidding for a fourth term against four opponents who have campaigned hard. Seldom has a governor's race had five serious candidates. In previous bids for re-election, Faubus had two major opponents in 1956 and just two opponents of any type in 1958.

Not since 1954, when Faubus, Sen. Guy Jones of Conway and Gus McMillan of Sheridan fought it out with Gov. Francis Cherry has a primary campaign been as deadly serious.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, H. B. Williams of Walnut Ridge, Joe C. Hardin of Grady and Hal Millsap Jr. of Siloam Springs began campaigning as soon as the ticket closed in April. Indeed, Bennett and Millsap also have made long runs on the handshake circuit.

Faubus gave his foes two months' start before he formally entered the campaign early this month. Before that he let his foes have the floor, largely ignoring their charges and proposals. But when Faubus took to the stump, he came on like a tornado and he has covered every corner of the state in three short weeks.

The race is quite likely to turn on personalities, not issues, since the candidates are in general agreement on the major issues—segregation, industrialization, education and population loss.

The piling of the ways comes when Faubus asserts his administration is attacking these problems with all possible vigor. The opponents claim they could handle the job better.

Faubus has relied mainly on his political strong points—a winning personality and a stumping technique reminiscent of depression days office seekers. Bennett and Millsap also have made long runs on the handshake circuit.

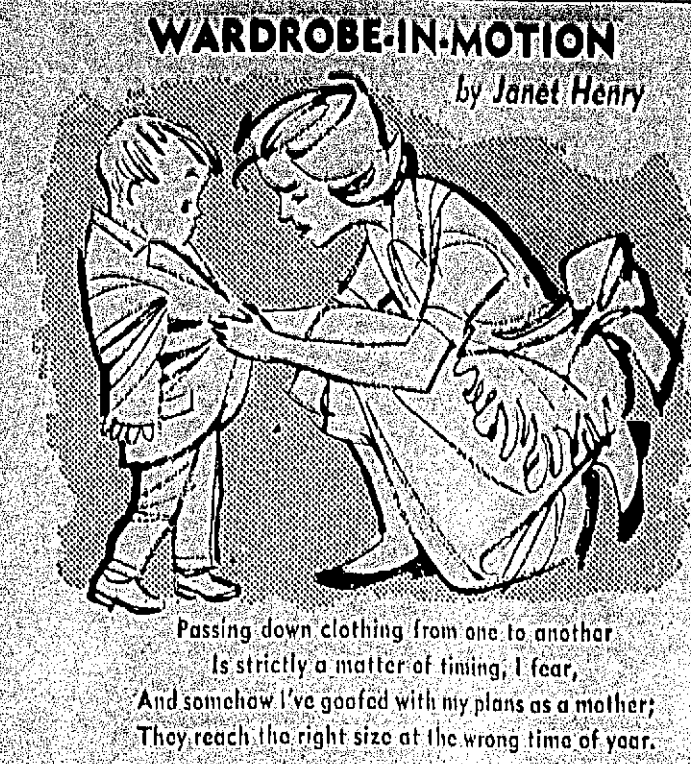

Hardin and Williams have been seen less, but heard more via television and prepared statements. Faubus has concentrated on a defense of his handling of the state government during the past five years. "Keep Arkansas Progress Program of Progress" is the campaign slogan to which he has geared his election machine. He has promised "more of the same" rather than outlining any new programs.

The opponents have offered extensive programs, similar to one another in many respects. All want greater emphasis on industrialization, more funds for education and a non-political Highway Commission and all urge steps to halt Arkansas' population loss.

Each of them, however, has become identified with a particular plank. Williams is the main spokesman for farmers with his proposed Arkansas Farm Development Corp. Bennett has tried to take the segregation issue away from Faubus. Hardin has dwelt on the fourth term issue and Millsap has specialized on proposed tax cuts.

No one has proposed any tax increases.

Bennett promised when he filed that he would "re-integrate" the state. He did not explain how he would accomplish this, but his

Women Voice Amendment 52 Dislike

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas League of Women Voters today voiced opposition to proposed constitutional Amendment 52, the school closing measure which will be voted on in November.

The league believes the amendment would destroy the public school system in Arkansas at the very time when the need for improved education is greater than ever before, said Mrs. B. Jack Purcell of Pine Bluff, state president of the organization.

The proposed amendment was the keystone of Gov. Orval B. Faubus' anti-integration program. In the 1959 Legislature, it would permit local option closing of schools faced with integration. Educational funds would be distributed to eligible students as tuition grants.

Action by the state League of Women Voters came after a number of local leagues, including the one at Little Rock, had condemned the amendment. League studies indicated the tuition grants proposed by the amendment would be inadequate to provide a child with an education.

Four candidates for governor—Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, Joe C. Hardin of Grady, H. B. Williams and Hal Millsap Jr.—have come out against the proposal. Faubus has avoided mentioning it in his campaigning.

360,000 Votes May Be Cast

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An estimated 360,000 Arkansians will go to the polls next Tuesday in the state's Democratic primary election.

Secretary of State C. G. Hall, who usually makes a good prediction of the number who will vote, said yesterday a lack of interest in local races will hold the vote count down.

Hall said the vote probably will not reach the record 483,000 votes cast in the 1958 primary, when Gov. Orval B. Faubus won a third term. Faubus polled nearly 70 per cent of the total vote.

A record 500,601 Arkansians paid poll taxes this year.

Four Die in Crash of Two Jet Planes

SHAW AFB, FORBES, S.C. (AP)—Two jet planes crashed here today shortly after a deadly side-by-side take-off. The fiery crashes killed four persons. One plane hurtled into a farmhouse and exploded, killing a sleeping couple.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Davis Sr., an elderly farm couple alone in the house; and the pilots of the F-101 jets, Lt. Roger N. Siegel, 27, a native of Brooklyn, Pkoi, 30, of Franklin Park, Ill.

The Shaw AFB Public Information Office said the cause of the crash was not known. There were no witnesses when the planes took off at 3:40 a.m. on a night of fog and rain.

The F-101 said the jets, on the same runway, plummeted to earth within 30 seconds after their landing gear retracted.

One of the fighter-reconnaissance planes played a deadly role in an asphalt highway then clipped off a tree in the Davis yard, before it crashed into the frame house and exploded.

Beef Appears Good Bet in the Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

People who don't like it will have plenty to "beef" about this weekend.

For the nation's groceries are featuring rib roast, sirloin steak, hamburger and various other cuts of beef as their best buys.

The more expensive steaks and roasts are more frequently offered, reflecting predictions of greater marketing of corn-fed cattle during the last half of the year. These are the specially treated critters who yield the prime cuts.

Offerings this week include sirloin and porterhouse in the Middle West, T-bone steak in the Southeast, rib roast in the Far West, round roast in the East and the lovely hamburger, or ground beef in New England and the Far West.

Prying chickens are pushed in a few places, but specials on pork are widely scattered and fish items are confined to coastal areas.

Egg prices rose 2 to 4 cents a dozen over a wide area.

Strong summer supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables continue. Best buys among vegetables this week are snap beans, beets, cabbage, corn, cucumbers, endive, escarole, all varieties of lettuce, peppers, potatoes, radishes and squash.

Good buys can be had, too, from among broccoli, carrots, cauliflower, celery, eggplant, okra, onions, spinach, tomatoes and watercress.

Outstanding buys among fruits include blueberries, limes, peaches, nectarines, plums and watermelons, while good buys are avocados, apples, cantaloups, honeydew melons, mangoes, grapes, lemons and California oranges.

Sears Names a New V-President

CHICAGO (AP)—Alford I. Davies, Memphis, Tenn., has been named Sears Roebuck and Co. vice president for operations.

Davies, a Fort Worth, Texas, native who was twice elected president of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce in 1958.

Bennett, Hardin and Williams all have forecast the governor will be forced into a runoff.

Each of them thinks he will be the man to face the governor again Aug. 10.

Bennett says his private polls show Faubus has 38 per cent of the vote. That would be about 136,000 of the expected total of 360,000. With this number of votes, Faubus would lead the ticket, although he would not have a first primary victory. He got more than 270,000 votes in 1958, giving him about 90,000 votes he could strong organization and support in those and still win.

If he wins, Faubus will become his opponents has his own area the first fourth-term governor in of strength. Bennett is expected Arkansas history. Even if he loses to run strong in east and south, he is the only man ever to seek Arkansas. Williams has many a fourth term.

Isolation of Angolais Near an End

By JOSEPH R. L. STERNE

Baltimore Sun Correspondent

LUANDA, Angola (AP)—Under the relentless pressure of African upheaval, the centuries-old isolation of Portuguese Angola is fast coming to an end.

It is being replaced by a new kind of isolation. Instead of obscurity—an obscurity that has made this southwest African territory one of the great unknowns of the continent—Angola is taking on a lonely and unwanted prominence.

Together with Mozambique, its sister Portuguese province on the African east coast, Angola is emerging as the last big stronghold of traditional European colonialism south of the Sahara.

"Thus far and no further"—this is the answer to "driving black nationalism that Portuguese officials repeat here with regularity.

They concede that the trend of events seems to be running hard against them. But they contend that the Portuguese are different from the other European colonizers who came to Africa.

Portugal is a dictatorship which stifles political opposition, not only in the overseas provinces but in the mother country as well. Press censorship, a widespread network of informers, and rigid clamps on education all discourage the growth of ideas about democracy and self-determination.

Africans in Angola and Mozambique have little chance to learn the precepts of liberty which, to the Portuguese way of thinking, underminded British, French and Belgian rule in Africa.

Because of Portugal's cradle-to-grave thought control, observers in many parts of Africa believe that organized black nationalism movements are practically nonexistent in Angola and Mozambique, at least so far.

When the slightest inkling of subversive activities is suspected, the authorities crack down hard. The real threat to continued Portuguese rule appears to come from outside, especially from the Leopoldville area where a sizable group of Angolan expatriates will be able to operate openly now that the Congo has black government. They have the support of Patrice Lumumba, new premier of the Congo, and Kwame Nkrumah, President of Ghana.

Another reason for Portuguese confidence is the economic power that Mozambique and Angola exercise over the Congo. Most of the copper and other mineral exports are mined in Katanga Province, in the southeast corner of the Congo. Most travel by rail is across either Angola or Mozambique to the ports of Lobito on the west coast or Beira on the east.

If Portugal should close these rail links, admittedly at great loss to its own economy, the Congo could be quickly brought to its knees.

UN Secretary Talks With Congolese

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld conferred separately today with Congolese and Belgian representatives as pressure mounted for a quick withdrawal of Belgian soldiers from the troubled Congo.

The 11-nation Security Council is expected to demand at an extraordinary meeting tonight that the Belgians get out immediately. Tunisia was reported to be working on a resolution and to have won substantial support.

U. N. action was considered urgent because of threats by the Congolese government to call for Soviet military intervention if the Council fails to get the Belgian forces out. The threats were renewed today.

The United States was understood to feel that the U. N. military force is now in a position to maintain order in the Congo and there is no reason for further delay in the withdrawal of Belgian soldiers. This view is reflected also in last-minute reports from U. N. officials in the new African country.

Denied New Trial in Dynamite Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Circuit Judge William J. Kirby yesterday denied Herbert Qdell Monts, a 17-year-old Little Rock Negro, a new trial on charges of dynamiting the home of a Negro student at Central High School.

Monts and Maceo Antonio Binns, 30, another Negro, were convicted in the bombing of the home of Carlotta Walls, who graduated from Central last spring. Both were sentenced to five years in prison.

Monts' attorney, Harold Flowers of Pine Bluff, said his case would be appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court. Binns' conviction also is on appeal.

Civil Rights Trouble to Both Parties

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democrats almost fractured themselves on the civil rights issue in Los Angeles. But they're not the only ones with troubles. Look at the Republicans in Chicago.

The image of themselves which the Democrats and Republicans would like to project is that of two political parties representing a clear-cut difference on issues and solutions.

But since both are composed of liberals and reactionaries at the extreme ends, with a broad band of conservatives in the middle of both parties, their problem is trying to whip together a campaign platform.

It comes down to this: How to take a position which, while it can't possibly reconcile the three main viewpoints inside each party, will at least not be so indigestible that it will compel any of the three groups to leave the room.

In Los Angeles last week the majority of Democrats approved a civil rights plank which goes further in support of civil rights for Negroes than any plank in the history of the Democratic Party. It infuriated Southerners, some of whom as a minimum wished to demonstrate against the plank on the convention floor. An open break and Southern walkout was avoided.

But the Democratic party hasn't heard the last of it; even though it picked Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas to be its vice presidential candidate, a move clearly intended to keep the Southern states in-line.

As late as Tuesday Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett was taking the lead in urging a Southern bolt from the Democratic Party. He called the civil rights plank obnoxious, horrible and repulsive.

The liberal and extreme right wings of the Republican party collided Tuesday in Chicago, before the GOP committee which is trying to nail together the Republican platform.

On the liberal side was New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller who has run head-on into the ideas of President Eisenhower's conservative administration, particularly on defense spending.

Rockefeller urged an additional splurge of $1½ billion dollars on defense, although Eisenhower has long made it clear he thinks present defense spending is enough.

The extreme right wing of the party was represented in Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. He calls himself a conservative and is so far from seeing eye to eye with Rockefeller that he previously suggested the New Yorker run for president on the Democratic ticket.

Clinton Rossiter, a political scientist, in his recent book, "Parties and Politics in America," goes into great detail to try to distinguish the differences between the parties and within the parties.

"There can be no doubt that a wide gap of ideology and aspiration yawns between men like Sens. Case (NJ), Javits (NY) and Cooper (KY) and Sens. Goldwater, Capehart (Ind.) and Bridges (NH)."

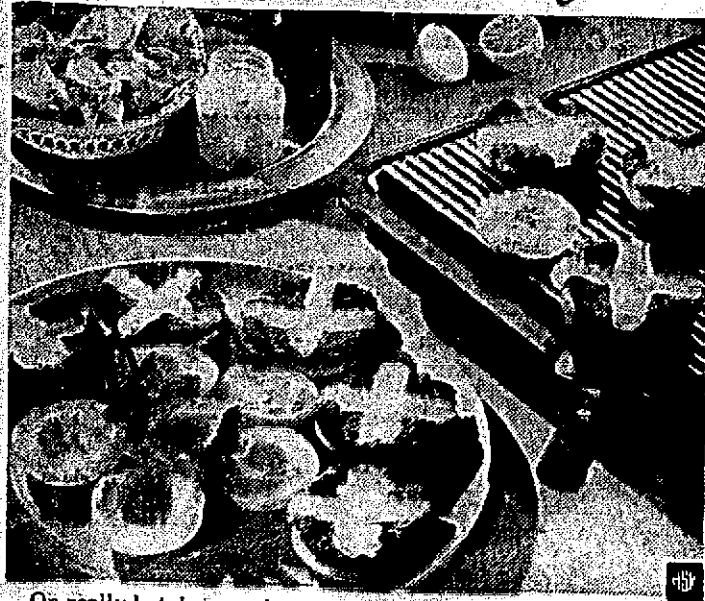

"The lofty figure of Eisenhower has kept them all working amiably together, but the split may yet deepen into a serious wound."

No one who watches Congress year after year can doubt that except in times of extreme emergency, like the depression of the 1930s, the leadership and the bulk of the action in both parties in Congress is pretty conservative.

Negro Charged With Murder

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Herschel Burnell, 25-year-old Negro, has been charged with first degree murder for fatal beating of his wife, Inez, 29, whose battered body was found Sunday near the Ouachita River north of Camden. Sheriff Grover Lineberger said Burnell signed a statement admitting the killing.

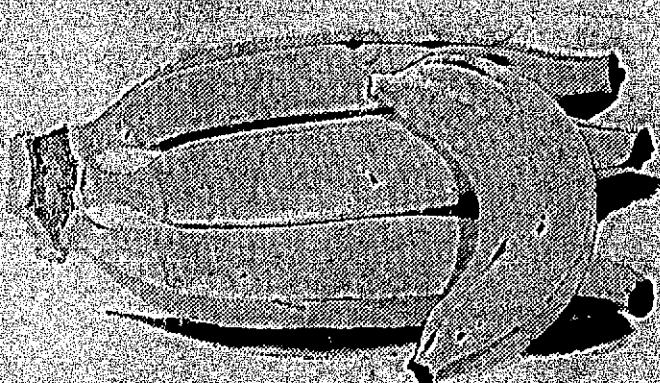

Peachy Summer Eating

On really hot days, make supper an easy sandwich meal, broiling beefburgers right on the buns. Thin patties cook without turning. No difficult scouring job on the broiler pan! Strips of cheese across the tops dress up the burgers a bit, and taste good, too. Broiled canned cling peach halves, sprinkled generously with lemon juice and chopped mint, sparingly with sugar, are perfect for eating with hamburgers, and they both cook happily in the same pan. Canned clings hold their shape when heated, and the heat brings out their summery fragrance and flavor. Eat the burgers open-faced style, but count on two to a customer!

Broiled Burgers and Peaches
Drain 8 canned cling peach halves. Sprinkle generously with lemon juice and chopped mint, lightly with sugar. Mix together 1 pound ground lean beef, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon each powdered onion and chili powder, ¼ teaspoon black pepper. Split 4 hamburger buns in half and toast under broiler. Spread with butter and prepared mustard, then spread beef evenly over buns, covering and bottom of buns are covered with meat. Arrange buns and peaches on broiler pan; broil until meat is browned. Place strips of cheese across buns and heat a minute longer, until cheese melts. Makes 4 servings.

Chapter XXII

Artemus had been impressed by the stationery store. He did not feel alone as he had felt before meeting that officer. As he rolled along he saw ahead of him a small figure in faded dungarees and cowboy boots with a maverick hat. It was Pomfret. Pomfret, striding purposefully, as if he had an important objective in view, Artemus walked faster and overtook the boy.

"Morning, Pomfret, Lionel," he said ceremoniously. "Long way from home, aren't you?"

"I'm investigating," Pomfret said in his best precocious manner. "The printing trade. I'm pretendin' I'm looking for a job. I'm applyin' to be a printer's devil."

"Indeed?" Artemus said. "Why would that be?"

"I wouldn't tell anybody but you. It's a secret investigation. Did you know that over in France a gang of counterfeiters moved in and took over a printing shop on Sundays — without the owner's knowing it — and used it to print money?"

"I know about that matter," Artemus said.

"Well, it's a possibility, isn't it?"

Artemus looked through the glass. It was as Pomfret Lionel had said — the stationery store contained no Walker Bayside. "Bal," he said impatiently, "you'd better away from here. Skip the whole thing and don't come back. Keep away from this neighborhood. It's an order."

"Yes, sir," Mr. Baldwin. But what for? Did you deduce something?"

"No," Artemus told him patiently. "But when something happens that there's no obvious answer for, then it's a dandy place for a small boy to stay away from."

Shortly after Artemus got up the next morning his telephone disturbed him as he was standing under the shower. Impatiently he came out, dripping, to answer.

"That you, young sprig?" asked Mr. Roche's dry, high-pitched voice.

"Present and accounted for," Artemus answered.

"Mama and Jick are havin' a barn raisin' this afternoon. There'll be a herd trampin' the lawn. Might be a good idea, there that'll kind of fobbergast you. Be a good idea for you to log up and come."

Artemus finished his shower. Mr. Roche had some purpose in mind with this invitation; other than mere social intercourse. As he dressed he reflected on what an entertainingly downy bird Mr. Roche was. He also reflected upon the possibility that Mr.

1 cup sugar
2 cups pineapple juice
3 1/2 cup lemon juice
2 quarts water with ice cubes

Key States Seem to Be for Kennedy

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP) — The head of the Draft Rockefeller Committee said today he is absolutely confident the name of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will be placed in nomination for president at next week's Republican National Convention.

William Brinton, chairman of the group, also told newsmen that a recent survey by a polling organization shows Vice President Richard M. Nixon — the apparent GOP nominee today — is running far behind Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, in five key states.

Brinton, 40, a crop-haired, bespectacled San Francisco lawyer, thus tried to derail the Nixon bandwagon at a news conference. News headquarters for Nixon opened about the same time but the whole attitude there was that the Draft-Rockefeller movement was a minor matter.

Brinton talked with newsmen after Rockefeller backers differed on whether there were solid plans to offer the New York governor's name.

Brinton was asked "If he could definitely say, 'I am absolutely confident that his name will be placed in nomination,'" Brinton replied.

But Brinton didn't bring any word from Rockefeller himself on the subject — and, in fact, said his organization was operating on its own without direct or financial aid from the Rockefeller camp.

One strategist in the Rockefeller camp said earlier that a definite decision had been made to offer his name. The report was that Rockefeller himself had approved the plan before his appearance at a platform committee meeting Tuesday.

Robert L. McManus, Rockefeller's news representative, denied Rockefeller had made any decision.

Brinton said that a survey of five states had been made after the Democratic National Convention.

He reported it was conducted by political Analysis Associates Inc., of Princeton, N. J.

He said it showed public opinion split up as follows:

New York — Kennedy 51 per cent, Nixon 26, undecided 23.

California — Kennedy 49 per cent, Nixon 32, undecided 19.

Pennsylvania — Kennedy 50 per cent, Nixon 29, undecided 21.

Illinois — Kennedy 48 per cent, Nixon 27, undecided 25.

Texas — Kennedy 50, Nixon 27, undecided 23.

Nixon Will Take Charge of Convention

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
CHICAGO (UPI) — The stop-Kennedy movement, which broke its back in Los Angeles, is reforming here under new management with Vice President Richard M. Nixon as head man.

Nixon will be in charge unless the impossible happens, as it sometimes does in politics. The Republican impossible would be the nomination of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for president.

Rockefeller's nomination would not be any more impossible than just a week ago it appeared impossible that Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson would be nominated for vice president to run with Sen. John F. Kennedy on a left-wing platform which challenges substantial parts of Johnson's public record.

Not even Rockefeller believes there is any muscle in the draft Rockefeller business. So, with Nixon a shoo-in, interest in the Republican National Convention centers in the party platform and in the nominee for vice president.

Must Produce Surprise
To match the Democrats for the surprise and jolting impact of Johnson's nomination, Nixon and the Republicans will have to pull a truly remarkable rabbit out of the hat. A two-headed animal, maybe, or one with six legs.

Rockefeller insists that he will not accept a draft for vice president, and one must believe him. He has been adversely critical of Nixon as President Eisenhower's heir apparent. Moreover, Rockefeller has been sharp-shooting the Eisenhower administration and its works. The official Washington line is that Ike rather likes Rocky.

Insiders doubt this. The President was furious last month when Rockefeller made a big thing of visiting the President in his office. Immediately thereafter, Rockefeller publicly challenged Nixon on basic policy issues. This maneuver made it appear that the challenge had been discussed with and endorsed by Eisenhower.

Whatever Ike may say publicly, there is no reason to believe that he is not among those Republicans who yearn for a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket. Some thoughtful politicians believe it would be easier for Rockefeller to adjust his ideas to the presidential platform adopted last week in Los Angeles than for the governor to adjust to a Republican platform going all-out in support of the Eisenhower administration record.

Sees Platform Pressure
Rockefeller could, unquestionably, stand on the Democratic platform with less danger than Johnson, of embarrassment or slippage. The governor's pressure, however, likely will have considerable effect on the Republican platform to be drafted here.

A big decision yet to be revealed is whether Nixon and the Republicans will make a grab for labor support. Big labor can be counted as of now against the Republicans just as the South was moving away from the Democrats after Kennedy's nomination and before the Johnson bombshell.

The Republicans could mightily shake up the political situation, for example, by naming a big time labor boss to run for vice president. That would not be much more astonishing than the Democrats' nomination of Johnson.

No such is likely, however. The Republicans in 1960 are likely to nominate a ticket of Republicans for president and vice president—for a change.

Kennedy Sets Up a New Vote Team

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY
HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy today announced appointment of a new campaign organization designed to attract independents, Republicans, and Democrats who want to "work apart from the regular Democratic party organization."

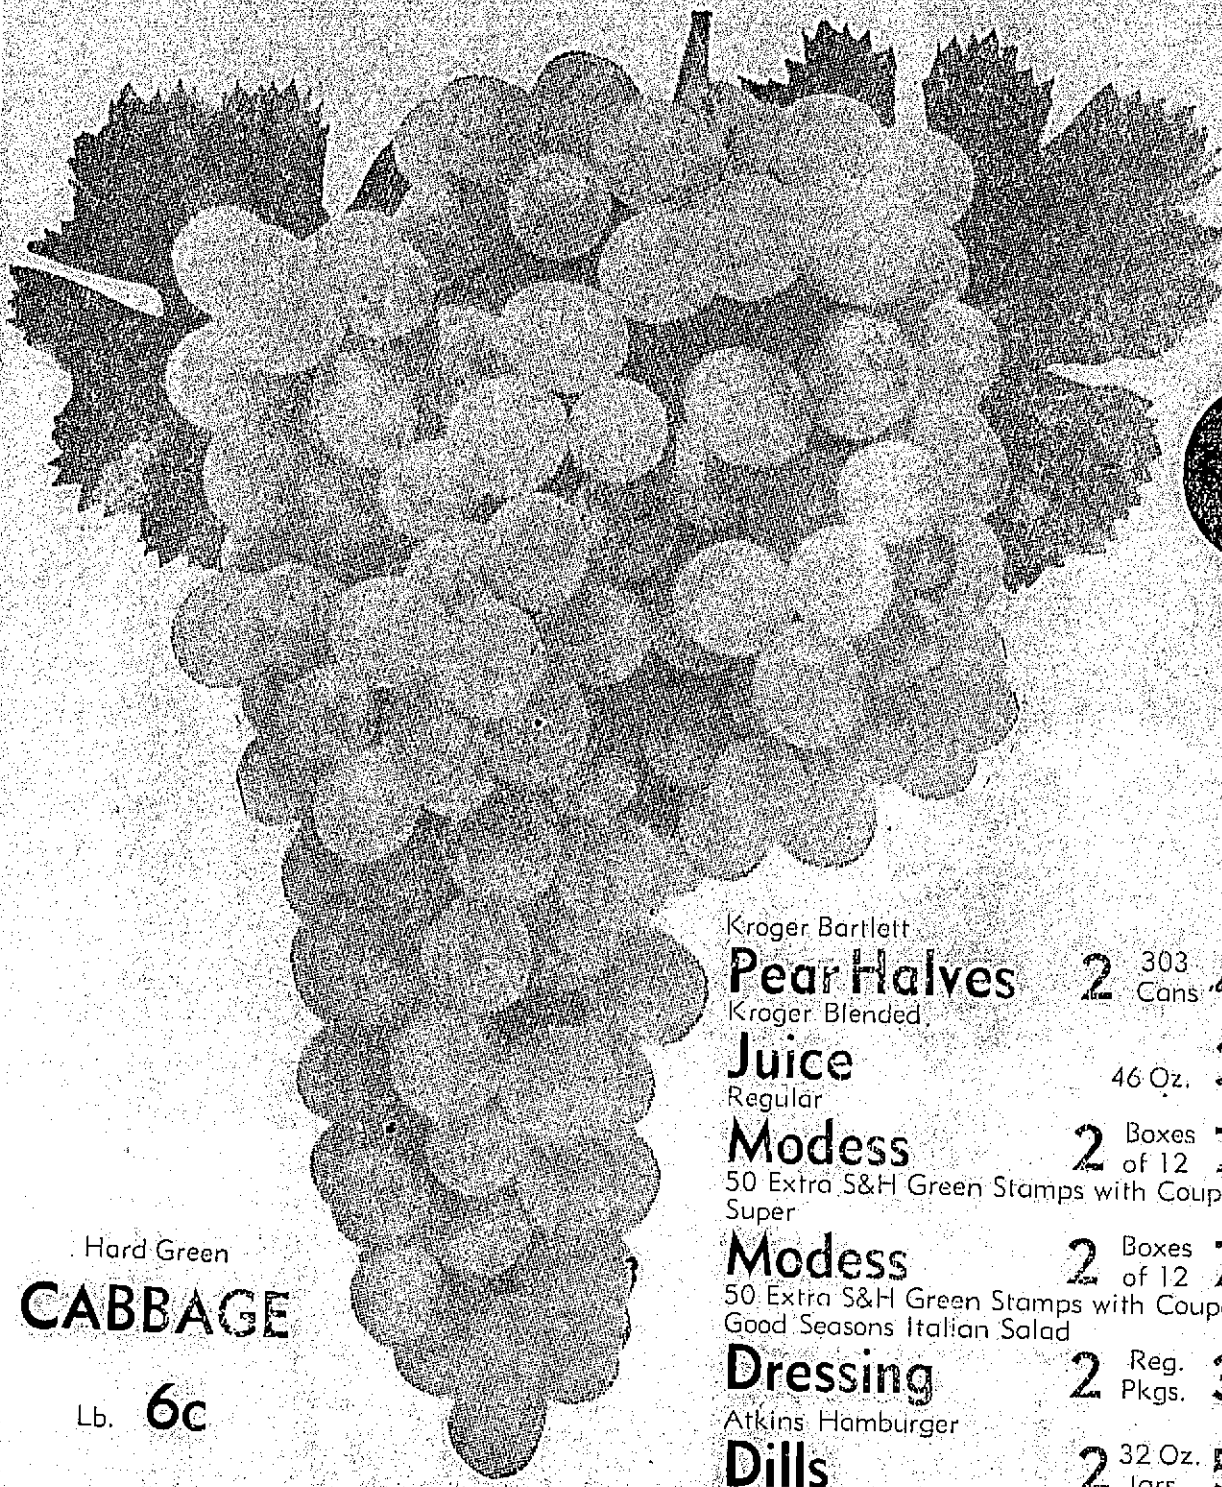

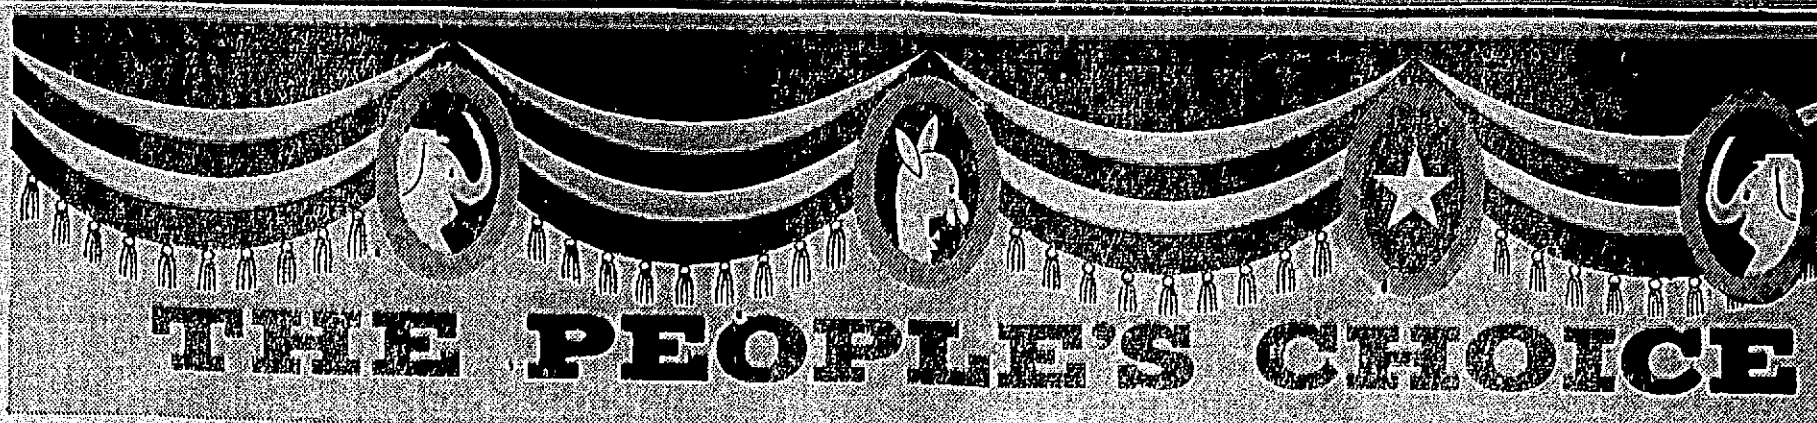

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's secretary, said the organization "could very well" provide a place for such groups as the New York Democratic faction led by former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman.

Lehman is at odds with the New York organization. Salinger, as Kennedy's official spokesman, told a news conference the organization will be known as Citizens-for-Kennedy, and will be headed by Byron White, 43, the former All-American halfback at the University of Colorado.

White's title will be national chairman; his assignment to establish units in every state. Salinger spoke as a group of Kennedy campaign strategists was assembling at the senator's vacation home for a top level meeting.

This forced Kennedy to cut into his "complete rest" vacation.

James IV of Scotland (1488-1513) played golf because the game fascinated him.
